

2017 Western Division of the American Fisheries Society Student Colloquium

November 14 – 17, 2017

Hosted by the Palouse Student Subunit of the American Fisheries Society in McCall, Idaho

The 2017 Student Colloquium is a great opportunity to:

- Interact with a diverse array of students from all over the West
- Present current research in a friendly, constructive environment
- Receive feedback on your research
- Attend an R workshop presented by Dr. Derek Ogle

The meeting is free and the planning committee is committed to providing travel assistance to attendees!

Meeting schedule:

11/14 – Travel and Welcome Social

11/15 – Fisheries Stock Assessment in R workshop presented by Dr. Ogle

11/16 – Student presentations with feedback

11/17 – Travel home or explore central Idaho (cross country skiing, late-season fishing)

Like and follow the Palouse Student Subunit on Facebook for important updates on the 2017 WDAFS Student Colloquium

<https://www.facebook.com/palouse.afs>

Contact information:

Palouse Student Subunit President, Shannon Blackburn (Blac2622@vandals.uidaho.edu)
Western Division AFS Student Representative, Zach Klein (Klei7686@vandals.uidaho.edu)